While the rest of the city was attending another festival and an air show, our community was celebrating with the Blues, food, information and fun in the heart of Black Milwaukee! The 20th annual Garfield Avenue Blues, Jazz, Gospel and Arts Festival was held along Garfield Avenue. With the demise of African World Festival, Juneteenth Day, Bronzeville Days, the Negro League Tribute Baseball game, and the Garfield festival have become the summer celebration staples for Black Milwaukee to meet and greet each other, as well as reminisce about past festivals that have taken place along that street near Martin Luther King Drive. Businesses, community based organizations, artists, food vendors and entertainment by some of the best local blues, jazz, and gospel acts around made everybody forget about the heat and pack the street for a great time!

Former Milwaukee Brewers great Cecil Cooper was among the players from the 1982 American League champion team honored on 35th anniversary of

THAT CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON!

Cooper took his place in familiar territory recently at Miller Park...first base, joining his teammates from the 1982 American League championship team that went on to the World Series after coming back from a 2-0 deficit of a then best of three five-game series to take the pennant from the California Angels. It was Cooper’s game-winning hit that sealed the deal for the Brew Crew and sent them on to take on the St. Louis Cardinals, who the Brewers succumbed to in seven games.

After the ceremony honoring the 1982 team, the Brewers of today beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 3 to 2. Travis Shaw came through with a game-deciding homerun. During the series, Ryan Braun hit a homerun and helped teammates celebrate their accomplishments as well during the series.

MILWAUKEE NATIVE RETURNS HOME TO PERFORM IN NEW VOICE OF THE FATHER CHILD PRODUCTION

Hometown sensation, actor David Stewart was in town with his wife and son to perform in a play by Voice of the Fatherless Child titled, “My Addiction, the drug awareness presentation.” Stewart is best known for his roles in Tyler Perry’s Madea movies. Pictured above is VOFC executive director and playwright Monte Mabra (kneeling with child next to Senator Lena Taylor, who attended the play) and the cast from the production—Photo by Yvonne Kemp

5 IMPORTANT AFRICAN AMERICAN PHOTOGRAPHERS THAT YOU SHOULD KNOW

Gordon Parks
The first African-American photographer hired at Life and Vogue magazines, Gordon Parks was a prolific photographer, writer, composer and filmmaker. His photo essays that he produced primarily for LIFE magazine from the 1940s to 1970s focused on issues related to poverty, race, segregation and life of African Americans.

Addison Scurlock came to Washington DC in 1900 and opened up a Studio in 1911 on U Street, in the heart of the African American Community. He established himself as the pre-eminent African American photographer in Washington DC at a time when minstrel caricature was common. His photos captured black culture in its complexity and showed black people as they saw themselves.

Jamel Shabazz
Born and raised in Brooklyn, Jamel Shabazz has documented urban New York for the last 40 years. In 1980 he embarked on a mission to extensively document various aspects of life in New York City, from youth culture to a wide range of social conditions. Due to its spontaneity and uniqueness, the streets and subway system became backdrops for many of his photographs.

Moneta Sleet Jr
Best known for his Pulitzer Prize-winning photograph of the funeral of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Moneta Sleet Jr started working for Johnson Publishing in 1955, where he shot for the Ebony and Jet Magazine, capturing, among others Muhammad Ali, Stevie Wonder and Billie Holiday. He also shot the funeral of Malcolm X.

James Van Der Zee was a Harlem-based photographer, renowned for his glamorous, detailed portraits and depictions of the African American middle class in Harlem in the 1920s and 30s. He labeled each of his photos with a signature and date, which would prove to be important for future documentation.

“I wish that more people felt that photography was an adventure the same as life itself and felt that their individual feelings were worth expressing. To me, that makes photography more exciting.”

—Harry Callahan

YOU THINK YOU CAN HIDE IT.
