“Date Night” with their Princesses!

2018 DADDY/DAUGHTER DANCE

At North Division High School • February 17

It was “date night” for the 15th year in a row for area fathers who brought their special dates: daughters, step-daughters, granddaughters, and nieces to North Division High School on Valentine’s Day weekend.

It was a fun-filled evening for dads and their daughters and like-daughters who once again created lifelong memories as they twirled, and bopped. Some of the young ladies showed their daddies the latest dance moves. DJ Homer Blow played the best dance hits from every era. And yes, the dads and daughters did the “Cupid Shuffle!” which has become an annual Daddy/Daughter dance tradition!—All photos by Yvonne Kemp

Betty Brinn Museum Expands STEAM Education in Area Schools as a Designated Making Spaces Hub

The Betty Brinn Museum was selected as one of fifteen organizations in the country to participate as a designated Making Spaces Hub, an innovative program partnership between Google, Maker Ed and the Children’s Museum of Pittsburgh that supports maker-centered learning in schools and STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art and math) education.

The Betty Brinn Museum joins other museums, libraries, school districts and community organizations that were chosen to participate as a Making Spaces regional hub.

Throughout the nation, the hub institutions partner with schools in their area to help jumpstart and sustain maker education in classrooms through crowdfunding, professional development and community engagement.

The Museum is pleased to announce partnerships with the following schools as a part of the Making Spaces Hub program: Lloyd Barbee Montessori School, Bayside Middle School, Messmer St. Mary, Messmer St. Rose, Clara Mohammed School Inc., Pewaukee Lake Elementary School and Stormonth Elementary School.

The Museum’s maker educators work out of the organization’s new off-site makerspace in Bay View, Brinn Labs, to help guide school educators, curriculum developers, administrators and parents in launching crowdfunding campaigns to raise funds for a designated school makerspace, and provide guidance to help educators and facilitators hone their approach to implementing project-based learning.

The program also provides access to information for short-term activities as well as open-ended, long-term projects, curriculum samples, examples of facilitation methods and practices, and the pedagogies and values aligned with making.

“Schools are increasingly interested in maker education for all grade levels and in creating makerspaces, but many do not have the resources, training and support they need to get started,” said Fern Shupeck, executive director, Betty Brinn Museum.

“We are thrilled to combine the Museum’s experience and accomplishments in the Maker Movement with the knowledge and support the Making Spaces Hub program offers, and to begin sharing this model with local educators.”

The Museum also presents Teacher Studio, a free, professional development event series, held at the Brinn Labs location, that provides an introduction to resources, training and activities for K-12 educators looking to implement making, makerspaces and STEAM learning.

In 2018, the Museum will introduce opportunities for schools, libraries, community organizations and other educational institutions to secure consulting services for STEAM education programming, standards-based lesson plan development, and the creation and growth of makerspaces.

Local author Deanna Singh to read to MCFI children
She penned ‘I am a boy of color’ and ‘I am a girl of color’

Area educator and social justice advocate Deanna Singh will read from and discuss her two children’s books, “I am a boy of color” and “I am a girl of color,” when she Deanna Singh visits MCFI on March 2, Read Across America Day.

Singh will visit MCFI, 2020 W. Wells St., Milwaukee, from 10:15 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. that day.

She was invited to present to MCFI’s Children’s Center programs as the books, which speak to developing healthy self-images, will resonate with our population.

Singh said she wrote the books after she learned through her own research that fewer than 22% of published books depict children of color.

“There are more books on inanimate objects.”

Additionally, she said, many in the education system unfortunately talk about “children as problems to be solved.”

Following her presentation, children will be encouraged to ask question and will engage in creating self-portraits.

Easter Bunny Photo Experience Coming Soon to Southridge Mall to Delight Families

Families can also visit the Caring Bunny - a unique event in a subdued environment tailored to children with special needs

GREENDALE— Simon®, a global leader in retail real estate, is hosting its annual Easter celebration festivities at Southridge Mall, offering families the chance to participate in traditional and unique seasonal events.

The Bunny Photo Experience at Southridge Mall begins on Friday, March 2, and runs through Saturday, March 31, in Center Court. Kids will have the chance to visit with the Bunny in his oversized “vegie patch” and take home a treasured snapshot of the fun occasion.

High School Students Across Nation March for Gun Control

Tens of thousands of high school students across America were marked with an unexcused absence Wednesday, but everyone knew where they were. In the Washington area, high school students from DC.

Public Schools and from public schools in Maryland marched to the Capitol and then to the White House to demand Congress and the president institute gun control legislation that will keep the safe.

The march was organized by students from Richard Montgomery High School in Rockville, Md., and Bethesda-Chevy Chase in Montgomery County, Md., in response to the recent shooting in Parkland, Fla.

It was exactly one week ago Wednesday that 19-year-old Nikolas Cruz opened fire at Stoneman Douglas High School, killing 17 students and wounding dozens more. Cruz, who had been expelled from the school, was charged with 17 accounts of murder of his classmates, teachers and other school officials.

The shooting was the 18th school shooting in the first two months of this year. Student survivors at the school have launched a nationwide effort to focus attention on gun control in the wake of the shooting. Other student demonstrations were reported in Illinois, Florida and Texas. —AMIYAH KING / Howard University News Service

Bunny by Appointment, reserving a magical moment with Bunny online at simonbunny.com.

“We love to hold family-friendly events and we always look forward to watching children interact with the Bunny at Easter,” said Cheryl Rouse, director of marketing and business development for Southridge Mall.

Southridge Mall’s Caring Bunny™ event on Sunday, March 18, from 9-10:30 a.m., will offer families that have children with special needs a subdued environment to participate in the Bunny Photo Experience.

Caring Bunny, the largest program of its kind, has been developed by Simon and is guided by AbilityPath.org, a national online resource hub and special needs community. More than 90 Simon® properties will host the Caring Bunny this season. Promotional assistance for Caring Bunny has been provided by Autism Speaks.

On March 18, many steps will be taken to reduce sensory triggers, creating a more comforting environment for children’s cherished visit with the Bunny. The subdued environment at the Southridge Mall will include:

Turning off in-mall music, stopping escalators located near the photo set, and dimming the lights for the duration of the event.

Special activities geared toward the needs of the child during the ‘wait’ period to help the child understand what activities will occur during the visit.

For local pet owners, the popular Easter Bunny Pet Photo Night will occur on Sunday, March 25, from 6-8 p.m.

The Simon Bunny Photo Experience is again sponsored by GYMBOREE GROUP. The GYMBOREE GROUP is a specialty retailer operating stores selling high-quality apparel and accessories for children under the Gymboree, Gymboree Outlet, Janie and Jack, and Crazy 8 brands.
